

[Hao Tour Rome] | Michelin Restaurant Raiders

3 Jan 2019
By Anton Kwan

Italian cuisine is definitely a comfort food in European cuisine. Following the Paris and London after, like in the Eternal City of Rome rice Michelin, please remember the following six restaurant information.

Il Pagliaccio (★★)

Il Pagliaccio's chef Anthony Genovese, who was invited to Hong Kong Ritz Carlton and Pino Lavarra in April last year to co-produce a three-day four-handed dinner, I was at the mercy of the chef. I traveled to Rome this time, and I had already booked a good position before departure. I vowed to visit the only two-star restaurant in Rome.

The restaurant is in an excellent location and it takes 10 minutes to walk from Piazza Navona. Personally, I like the interior design with red as the main theme, full of mystery. Back to the food, compared to the restaurant that specializes in traditional Italian and Mediterranean dishes, it is an innovative dish that emphasizes the ingredients. According to the waiter's teachings, the tasting menu has no content because it is all a surprise, and I tried it on the same day. Starting from the "Amuse-bouche" frying, it was a surprise. The companion was too heavy for the appetizer. I felt that the Mediterranean touch was very satisfying.

The front dish is more impressive. It is a creamy ice cream with mushrooms, mushroom, mushroom, toasted bread and Focaccia. It is a complex with mushroom sauce and mushroom soup because some of the soup comes from The combination of ice cream and soup. The taste of the mushrooms is very fresh but not too salty. The cheese tastes light and matches the taste of the mushrooms. The main dish is the best of the squid, the meat is tender, and the fish itself is not the kind of savory taste, but rather restrained. It will feel deeper after chewing slowly after eating.

Il Pagliaccio

Location: Via dei Banchi Vecchi, 129/a, 00186 Roma RM, Italy

Tel: +39 06 6880 9595

Hours of Operation: Tuesday 7:30-10pm; Wednesday to Saturday 12:30nn-2pm & 7:30-10pm

Map : <https://bit.ly/2rlJKxn>